CURED BY CUTICURA

Had Given up All Hope of Ever Making Any Cure.

"My little girl has been suffering for two years or more from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her ailment was very severe. "I had tried so many remedies and spent much money, deriving no benefit, I had absolutely given up all hope of making any cure. But as a last re-sort I was persuaded to try a set of the Cuticura remedies, and to my great delight a marked change was manifested from the first application. One box of the Cintment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Soap, effected a permanent cure. I submit this for publication if you desire, hoping it will add to your success and assist so many thousands of sufferers in cur-ing themselves." Mrs. L. B. JONES,

Much Jealousy In Gates Case

Railroad Detectives Work at Cross Purposes and Murderers Are Not Captured.

Portland Journal.

That George Gates, one of the men alleged to have held up the Southern Pacific passenger train at a companion engaged a room in had attended their arms on the desperado could have been caporders to harass the enemy and cut lost, and it is not believed that it been formerly a high official, while

The confession of Mrs. Thomas Whiteman, made at Redding, Cal. in which she implicated Gates, was not news to the local officers who have been working on the case. It has been known here for some time that Gates was corresponding with some woman, and that he always Goff has signed the settlement on dated his letters ahead. But it was not known who the woman was, and it was not known at the time Gates was in Portland, else he would have been taken while here.

Detective Joe Day knows Gates, and characterizes him as one of the most desperate criminals ever operating in the west. The officer regrets the fact that so much newspaper notoriety has been given the case, for it is believed that Gates and his fellow murderers have benefited by it. It is a fact that the murderers, after fleeing from Copley after the murder, camped on a mountain not far from San Francisco for more than a week One of them went down to a train every day and bought copies of the San Francisco papers, so that they might learn the operations of the detectives. After the officers discovered the den recently occupied by the criminals, they found the newspapers stuffed down an old

It is the declaration of officers connected with the case that jealousy and newspaper notoriety have enabled the murderers to thus far escape justice. It is said there is much jealousy among the railroad detectives working on the case.

story: "Sometimes the sights of a city are memorable, The other evening as I walked home chilly-I saw something that made me think. I was passing the front of a large picture store on the great street, in the brilliantly lighted window was exhibited a picture of considerable size, in a costly frame. The painting represented two beautiful little girls walking through a daisy-covered meadow and picking flowers as they passed. On the cold pavement before that picture, stood a little ragged, shivering newsboy. One small arm encirwhile the other grimy fist was used to rub the great tears from his eyes People came and looked, and passed; but the boy, sobbing pittifully, stood before the magic picture, and the only word that he uttered was between great sobs, the tender word, 'sister,' ' -Toronto Guardian.
